

SEWING THROUGH FOG

Radha Weaver

Textile Artist

Passionate Advocate for Sustainable Making & Upcycling

Brand Partnerships:

Featured in:

Quilting Arts MAGAZINE Quiltmaker

CRAFT INDUSTRY  alliance

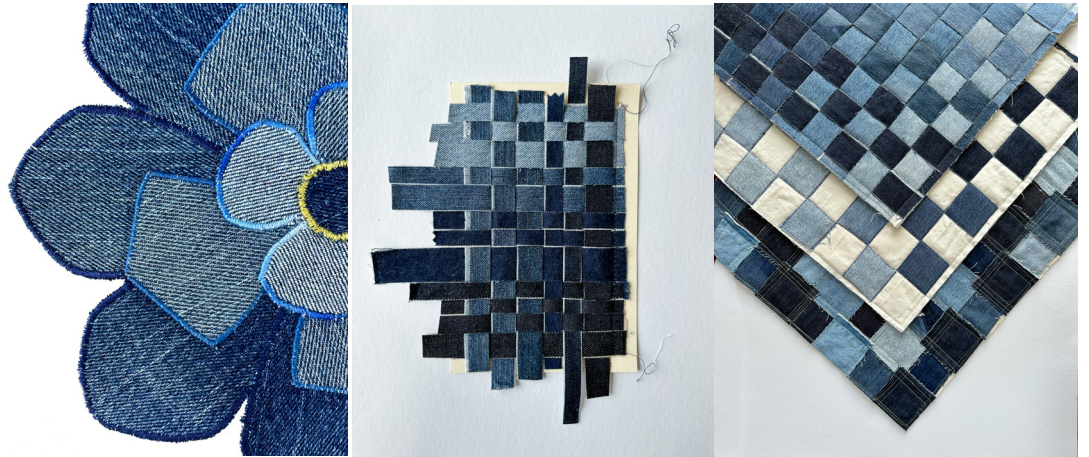

Social Media: @sewingthroughfog

Website: www.sewingthroughfog.com

SEWING THROUGH FOG

About

Hi I'm Radha, a Textile Artist and Sustainability Educator based in San Francisco.

I'm a passionate advocate for sustainable making, blending craftsmanship, heritage, and creativity into every project. After a 15-year career in the apparel and textile industry at Levi's, I founded Sewing through Fog in 2022 to reconnect with my family's rich sewing tradition.

My lectures are infused with authenticity, humor, and heart, as I encourage others to find beauty in repurposing and to transform old fabrics into new treasures.

SEWING THROUGH FOG

LECTURES

I would love to speak to your quilt guild or on-line community!

My live virtual lectures are suitable for quilters, sewists and makers of all styles and skill levels. They are an excellent introduction to quilting with denim and other upcycled materials. They provide tips on being more sustainable (but no judgment!) and are great for budget-conscious quilters.

My current lecture is: From fast fashion to sustainable stitching
It follows my journey from the fashion world to the world of upcycled and denim quilts; from creative reuse centers to QuiltCon.

Pricing: $450

Details:

- My talks are 50-60 minutes and leave time for Q&A.
- I am currently focused on virtual events. But if you have a request for an in-person event, please reach out and we can discuss it.
- I make an effort to accommodate your group's time zone — even internationally.
- I am currently scheduling through 2025 and into 2026.
- All bookings include 25% off coupon code for your group to use for my patterns and classes.

Contact: info@sewingthroughfog.com

Social Media: @sewingthroughfog

Website: www.sewingthroughfog.com